Nebius Launches a New Era in Cloud Technology in Israel

Nebius IL launched its operations in Israel and celebrated with a special event attended by hundreds of customers and senior executives from the technology industry. Nebius IL offers more than 50 different services and solutions for various business needs, particularly those interested in undergoing digital transformation processes and harnessing the technology of Nebius, which is one of the most advanced on the global market, to accelerate their business growth.

Nebius IL provides customers with a scalable multi-cloud infrastructure that delivers a more efficient and secure cloud experience, with advanced services such as AI applications, machine learning, and text-to-speech services available in multiple languages. Operating under the highest level of security, Nebius IL has three data centers located in Israel.

Nebius International adopted the advanced technology of Yandex Cloud. The team of senior engineers of Nebius IL took this technology and developed it here in Israel.

What is Nebius?

The name Nebius reflects the mission and values of the company and means "cloud" in Latin, as the name of the strip of clouds, Möbius, the symbol of infinity, without borders, which represents the commitment of Nebius Israel to provide innovative cloud solutions and to develop the technology customized to the needs of each customer.

Nebius IL's headquarters are in Israel, while Nebius International's headquarters are in the Netherlands, with hubs in Serbia and Germany. The company intends to expand operations in Europe and other regions.

Nebius IL has appointed an advisory board of directors that includes four senior figures in the cyber field in Israel and the world:

- Nati Cohen, former Chief of Communications and Information in the IDF, also served as the General Director of the Ministry of communications.
- Yigal Una, former Head of the National Cyber Directorate.
- Hagai Itkin, former Head of the Technologies Division in the Prime Minister's Office, is considered one of the most respected experts in the field of cyber warfare.
- Lior Carmeli, former Head of the ICT and Defense Division at the SVR, Commander of the Special Operations Unit, and Head of the Operations division at the AMN.

Eyal Rosen, Co-CEO of Nebius IL, said, "Nebius brings real news to the local market in Israel and a new approach that businesses here have not yet known. I invite our friends and colleagues to visit us, be impressed by the technology we are constantly developing here and be part of our cloud and open-source community."

In the current era, businesses are required to quickly adapt to frequently changing market needs. Our role is to adapt to any change and provide customers with the most advanced, fast, and cost-effective solutions, which is undoubtedly essential in the challenging times that many businesses in Israel and the world are going through."
